Did you know..?

COVID-19 vaccines were developed using cell lines from aborted babies

Unborn baby @ 8 weeks

Did you know... many of the vaccines for Coronavirus (COVID-19) have been tested on, or contain cell lines that were originally derived from tissue of babies killed by abortion in the 1970s and 1980s.

Cell line HEK-293 is derived from kidney tissue taken from a baby girl who was aborted in the Netherlands in 1972.

Cell line PER.C6 is derived from eye tissue taken from a baby boy who was aborted in the Netherlands in 1985.

The vaccines from Pfizer/BioNTech and Moderna were tested using the HEK-293 cell lines. The AstraZeneca/University of Oxford vaccine contains the HEK-293 cell lines. The vaccine from Johnson & Johnson contains the PER.C6 cell lines.

Are these vaccines moral or ethical?

These vaccines are neither moral or ethical because babies were killed by abortion and then their bodies used as 'laboratory specimens' in the production of the vaccines.

The 'remoteness' or length of time that has passed since the abortions took place does not alter the immoral and unethical act of the babies being killed. Whether the vaccines were 'only tested' on, or actually contain the cell lines, abortion was still the first stage of the process.

We must always respect the dignity of every human being at all stages of life. We cannot participate in or accept practices that perpetuate and encourage the relationship between abortion and biomedical science - no matter how long ago the abortion took place. The end does not justify the means. There are acts that are always wrong. One may not do evil so that good may result from it.

Any vaccine that was tested, developed, or produced using cells from the bodies of aborted babies is morally and ethically unacceptable and must always be opposed!

Stages in the Development of the COVID-19 Vaccine

The dangers of 'rushed' vaccines

Vaccines usually take 10 YEARS to develop with the research phase normally taking between 2 to 5 years alone. However, the vaccines for coronavirus have been developed and approved in less than 10 Months. Those who now receive a COVID-19 vaccine will effectively be 'Human Guinea Pigs.' mRNA vaccines have never before been brought to market for human patients. They use a sequence of genetic RNA material produced in a lab that, when injected into your body, invade your cells to make your immune system fight the virus. Moderna's mRNA vaccine is programmed to make your body's cells produce the coronavirus' "spike protein." In many ways, the vaccine almost behaves like a virus itself except that it hijacks your cells to produce the parts of the virus, like the spike protein, rather than the whole virus. There are unique and unknown risks to mRNA vaccines, including the possibility that they generate strong responses that could lead to inflammation and autoimmune conditions. mRNA vaccines requires us to take not one but two 'leaps of faith' — that they will work for a 'never-before-seen' virus and in 'a never-before-seen' way.

Are these vaccines safe?

Since the roll-out of the COVID-19 vaccines, there have been numerous news reports from USA, Norway, Gibraltar and Portugal of people dying after being vaccinated. The USA Centers for Disease Control (CDC) reported that thousands of people have had such adverse reactions to the vaccines that they were "unable to perform normal daily activities, unable to work, required care from doctor or health care professional." In January 2021, the CDC also reported that people have experienced life-threatening allergic reactions after receiving the COVID-19 vaccine.

The UK government said they were expecting a high volume of people reporting harmful side-effects from the COVID-19 vaccine. Only two days after the first vaccines were administered in the UK, the government warned that people with a history of allergic reactions should not be injected with the vaccine. The warning came after NHS workers had adverse allergic reactions to the vaccine. Government guidelines issued to Healthcare Professionals up to December 2020 stated the vaccine may not protect everyone who is vaccinated. The Government also stated they have no information about harmful side-effects of the vaccine on children under 16 years. The guidelines stated there are no studies on adverse interaction with other medical products. Regarding PREGNANCY, BREAST-FEEDING and FERTILITY, the Government guidelines stated there is no data on whether the vaccine has harmful side-effects on pregnant women or their unborn babies. Therefore the Government said the vaccine is not recommended for women during pregnancy, and women of childbearing age should not become pregnant before vaccination. In addition, women should be advised to avoid pregnancy for at least 2 months after the second dose of the vaccine. The Government guidelines stated that women who are breast-feeding should not be vaccinated because there could be a risk to newborn babies and infants. The guidelines also stated the Government do not know if the vaccine will cause infertility in women. The Government has now deleted this information from its website. Their latest guidelines only state that studies on rats do not indicate direct or indirect harmful effects to pregnancy, foetal development, or infertility. The government still admit there is limited experience with use of the vaccine in pregnant women, and say pregnant women should only be considered for vaccination when the potential benefits outweigh any potential risks for the mother and unborn baby.

The current information leaflet (Feb 2021) from the Northern Ireland Department of Health states: "The vaccines have not yet been tested in pregnancy, so until more information is available, those who are pregnant should not routinely have this vaccine."

On 26th January 2021, the World Health Organisation (WHO) said "...WHO does not recommend the vaccination of pregnant women." Three days later the WHO deleted this information from their website and replaced it with "...very little data are available to assess vaccine safety in pregnancy ...we don't have any specific reason to believe there will be specific risks that would outweigh the benefits of vaccination for pregnant women."

Will pharmaceutical companies be liable for harmful side-effects of vaccines?

The UK Government has ordered over 40 million doses of the Pfizer/BioNTech vaccine and also secured 350 million vaccine doses through agreements with other developers. The BBC reported that Pfizer/BioNTech and Moderna will “make billions of dollars” from the vaccines. However, the UK Government has granted legal indemnity to pharmaceutical companies to protect them from being sued for any deaths, injuries or harmful side-effects resulting from COVID-19 vaccines.

Are COVID-19 vaccines actually needed?

In January 2021, the World Health Organisation (WHO) stated, “We do not know whether the vaccine will prevent infection and protect against onward transmission.” The UK Government also admit in their guidance for COVID-19 vaccinations - “We do not yet know whether it will stop you from catching and passing on the virus.”

The global death rate from COVID-19 is 0.01%. This is of course much lower for people under 80 years of age and for those don't have serious underlying health problems. The recovery rate of those who get COVID-19 is almost 98%. No child without a serious underlying health condition has died of COVID-19 in the UK.

The figures for ‘covid-related deaths’ are deaths for any reason up to 60 days after a person tested positive for signs of coronavirus.

In January 2021, MERCK - one of the largest pharmaceutical companies in the world - shut down its COVID-19 vaccine research program to shift its focus on developing therapeutic treatments for those who get COVID-19. The company's research found that vaccines offered less protection than just contracting the virus itself and allowing the human immune system to naturally develop antibodies.

Will there be ‘Forced Vaccinations?’

Fears have been expressed that people could face restrictions (workplaces, schools, public venues, welfare benefits, NHS treatments, travel, flights, etc) if they do not take a COVID-19 vaccine. There is also a real danger that COVID-19 vaccines could become compulsory. When questioned about mandatory vaccinations in November 2020, the UK Government Health Secretary Matt Hancock refused to rule out making COVID-19 vaccines compulsory.

What can I do?

Forced vaccinations for COVID-19 would be an infringement of your civil and religious liberties and human rights. Contact your MP or Assembly Members (MLAs) at www.theyworkforyou.com and tell them you are totally opposed to compulsory vaccinations and they must not be forced on the people of Northern Ireland. Also ask your MP and MLAs to demand the Government stop using COVID-19 vaccines that were produced or tested using cell lines from babies killed by abortion.
